GSUSA Highlights

History

Juliette Gordon Low, founder of Girl Scouts of the USA (GSUSA), was born October 31, 1860, in Savannah, Georgia. A sensitive and talented youngster, Daisy, as family and friends knew her, developed what was to become a lifetime interest in the arts. She wrote poems and plays, sketched, acted and later became a skilled painter and sculptor. Full of inspiration herself, it was her destiny to inspire others as well. On March 12, 1912, in Savannah, Georgia, Juliette Low gathered 18 girls together to organize the first two American Girl Guide troops. Daisy Gordon, her niece, was the first registered member. The name of the rapidly growing organization was changed to Girl Scouts the following year. Within months, girl members were hiking through the woods in their ankle-length blue uniforms, playing basketball in a curtained-off court, and going on camping trips. The following year saw the opening of a national headquarters in Washington, D.C., and the publication of the first Girl Scout handbook, "How Girls Can Help Their Country," which featured knot-tying, first-aid, and outdoor cooking instructions.

In developing the Girl Scout movement in the United States, Juliette Low brought girls of all backgrounds into the out-of-doors, giving them the opportunity to learn about nature and develop self-reliance and resourcefulness. She encouraged girls to prepare themselves not only for traditional homemaking roles, but also for possible future roles in the arts, sciences, business, and for active citizenship outside the home.

Headquartered in New York City, Girl Scouts of the USA is the world's largest voluntary organization for girls. GSUSA's former National Executive Director, Marsha Johnson Evans, noted that a long-term goal of GSUSA is to make Girl Scouting available to Every Girl Everywhere, so that by 2008 GSUSA will achieve parity in serving all racial/ethnic groups. To date, GSUSA has positively influenced the lives of more than 50 million girls and adult women.

The Girl Scout Promise

On my honor, I will try:

To serve God and my country,
To help people at all times,
And to live by the Girl Scout Law.

The Girl Scout Law

I will do my best to be honest and fair, friendly and helpful,

considerate and caring, courageous and strong, and responsible for what I say and do,

and to respect myself and others, respect authority,

use resources wisely, make the world a better place, and be a sister to every Girl Scout.

Council Introduction to Volunteers

Girl Scouting is a membership organization. Girls join the Girl Scout movement in order to take part in the Girl Scout program; adults join in order to make the program possible and available to girls. Each adult, regardless of the position she/he holds--volunteer or staff, council or national--contributes directly and/or indirectly to helping girls.

Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina is chartered by Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. All operational volunteers are to support and operate within the framework of the GSESC council charter, articles of incorporation, bylaws, PROCEDURES, standards, goals and plan of work of the Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina and of the PROCEDURES, standards and corporate goals of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Volunteer Philosophy

Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina believes the strength of the Girl Scout movement rests in the voluntary leadership of its adult members. It is through this voluntary leadership that Girl Scouting serves girls.

VOLUNTEER PRACTICES AND PROCEDURES

Volunteer Definitions

Operational Volunteer: One appointed to the voluntary leadership position of troop leader, co- troop leader, member of the service team or membership extension volunteer.

Volunteer: All other voluntary (non-employee) positions.

Volunteer Status: All volunteer service is voluntary and without definite duration or pay. Volunteers are completely free to end the volunteer relationship at any time and GSESC has the same right to end the volunteer relationship at any time, with or without notice and regardless of performance.

Placement Procedures

Each applicant for a volunteer position is to complete a volunteer application and submit an online background check <http://www.girlscoutseasc.org/volunteer-now> . For volunteer satisfaction and/or effective utilization of the talents of the operational volunteers, GSESC may assess individual skills and aspirations in relation to the duties and responsibilities of the volunteer.

Selection Procedures

Adult volunteers are selected on the basis of qualifications for membership, ability to perform the volunteer duties, and willingness and availability to participate in required adult development training. GSESC cannot guarantee that a volunteer will be placed in a position, or in the position for which she/he applied. Some volunteers may be referred to another position appropriate to her/his interests and skills. As much as possible and appropriate, GSESC attempts to find a rewarding position that will suit the applicant's interests, skills and personality.

Unfortunately, GSESC cannot place every volunteer, and GSESC retains the sole discretion to determine, change, remove, end and deny placement at any time, with or without notice.

Appointment of Operational Volunteers

A volunteer agreement is to be completed by the operational volunteer at the time of appointment to an operational position. It may include appointment terms, specific expectations for operational volunteer performance and the signatures for the operational volunteer and her/his supervisor. Appointment of the operational volunteer is the responsibility of the Field Director.

Membership

Girl Scouts in the United States are part of a worldwide movement of girls and adults dedicated to the acceptance of the Girl Scout Promise and Law. As a condition of appointment, operational volunteers must subscribe to the Girl Scout Promise and Law and be registered members of Girl Scouts of the U.S.A.

Volunteer Position Descriptions

Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina provides written position descriptions for all operational volunteer positions and certain other volunteer positions. To provide better services to girls and a clear understanding of position expectations and accountabilities, position descriptions may be reviewed and revised periodically as ways of working and operating procedures change. Position descriptions may be used for recruitment, selection and appointment; for understanding of work to be done and qualifications needed; and, from the prospective volunteer, for understanding of responsibility and accountability.

Uniforms

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. authorized uniforms are symbols and marks of distinction. Members of Girl Scouts provide their own uniforms. Members of Girl Scouts are readily identified by uniforms worn when attending official functions. A uniform is not required for participation in Girl Scout activities; however, it is particularly suitable for almost all council functions. Operational volunteers are encouraged to wear the Girl Scout pin when they are not in uniform.

Volunteer-Related Position Expenses

Operational volunteers are encouraged to keep a record of expenses incurred while performing Girl Scout responsibilities, e.g., cost of uniforms, gasoline. Many of these expenses may be applied as income tax deductions. Volunteers should check with the Internal Revenue Service or their tax consultant for allowable deductions.

Volunteering with Girl Scouts is a voluntary service, and no volunteer, operational or otherwise, should expect, receive or solicit any monetary reimbursement for services.

Accident and Liability Insurance

Any motor vehicle used to transport Girl Scouts to be duly licensed, insured, safety tested and operated by a responsible person with a valid driver's license. South Carolina state law requires bodily injury and property damage liability as well as personal injury protection or its equivalent be provided on privately owned or rented vehicles. If you will drive as a volunteer and have any concern about meeting this requirement, it is your responsibility to consult the Field Director in your area. Volunteers who transport children other than their own have to be registered Girl Scouts.

In addition, all registered members, including volunteers, are currently protected under Girl Scout Activity Accident Insurance, basic coverage. This plan provides certain coverage for accident-related medical expenses to members while participating in or traveling to and from and participation in approved, supervised Girl Scout activities, e.g., day camp, troop camp, weekend trips (of two nights or less) and regular troop meetings. This basic coverage becomes null and void if a troop does not follow the guidelines for approval of a trip and/or the leaders have not taken the required training. Liability and sickness insurance is required of all troops traveling outside the U.S.A. Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina does not assume responsibility for insuring a volunteer's personal effects or for routine or emergency medical care except as covered under such basic accident insurance plan as is in effect. In all cases, the terms of the insurance plan control.

Training and Skills Development

Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is committed to adult development. It is considered in the best interest of Girl Scouting to provide opportunities, as possible, for volunteers to grow in competency and skills. By assisting individuals to reach their full potential, the organization fulfills its needs for increasing effectiveness as a voluntary organization. Adult development and training is the process by which each volunteer is assisted with clarifying her/his personal volunteer goals. "Introduction to Girl Scouting", "Girl Scouting 101" and "Leadership Essentials" are required before leaders and co-leaders begin meeting with their troop. Leaders and co-leaders are expected to register for (and complete) these required trainings within one month's time. Troops will not be recognized as registered if these training requirements are not met. This means a troop will not be able to participate in any council sponsored event or program nor will they be covered under liability or accident insurance for troop meetings until the training requirements are met. Leaders and/or assistant leaders are also responsible for ensuring that either they or another adult member of the troop has taken troop required trainings such as "Planning Trips with Girls", "Troop Camping", "First Aid and CPR", "Child Abuse Awareness and Prevention Training" etc.

The council constantly strives to provide a climate conducive to the development of each person's potential. In pursuit of this endeavor, training may be made available on many levels and to meet ongoing needs of volunteers as they develop and grow in a position. As a condition of service, GSESC requires all operational volunteers to participate in training for the position accepted and all other volunteers to take appropriate training within the time frame indicated by their appropriate positions.

In addition to council training, operational volunteers may take other trainings, including those offered by GSUSA national centers or others, with council endorsement.

National Council Session

National Council Session delegates elected by the Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina may be provided all or part of travel, room and per diem expenses entailed in attending the National Council Session upon timely production of acceptable documentation.

Educational Opportunities

Travel scholarships may be available to help selected adults defray the cost of attendance at Girl Scout training courses or special events held outside the council jurisdiction. Applications may be obtained from the North Charleston Service Center. Consideration is given for financial assistance according to such factors as the type and cost of the event, the amount budgeted for the fiscal year, and the number of eligible applicants. In order for an adult to receive financial assistance from the council, among other factors, the adult must have been a registered member for at least one year and have a working knowledge of Girl Scout program and PROCEDURES.

Recognition and Appreciation

Volunteers serve Girl Scouting because they believe in the philosophy of the movement, receive satisfaction from giving service to others, and achieve personal growth and development. There are, however, times and circumstances that call for a special expression of appreciation.

The most frequent and meaningful recognition comes from those close to volunteer, who are able to see the effort that has been put into the position. For the vast majority of volunteers it is this recognition that counts, and the supervisor can see that the recognition happens. The supervisor has a key role in initiating either service unit or council-wide recognition for exceptional performance.

Tokens of appreciation may range from a brief note of thanks to a lasting memento. Giving should be motivated by a sincere desire to express thanks rather than tradition or custom. Special expressions of appreciation should be given on the basis of performance. The following chart describes some appropriate recognitions for adults:

Performance

Sample Recognitions

Duties well done, training or certification completed, small successes and achievements.

A thank you note or phone call, flowers, a certificate or congratulatory card, a formal letter, position pin, homemade gift or card, etc.

Any of the above, plus a local newspaper or council article, a tribute at a local event, membership numerals or a small gift or plaque.

Evaluation of Operational Volunteer Performance

Operational Volunteer Performance Evaluation is a constructive tool used to assess strengths, weaknesses, volunteer performance-related problems or the need for change in volunteer duties. Additionally, ongoing feedback concerning volunteer performance may be based on mutual agreement of desired goals and objectives.

In view of the purpose of the Girl Scout movement and membership requirements, evaluations of adults in Girl Scouting are made on two broad bases: the individual's ability to carry out the volunteer assignment and the individual's performance as it is consistent with the philosophy and purposes of Girl Scouting.

Each operational volunteer is expected to develop performance goals and objectives with her/his supervisor and participate in periodic evaluations. The evaluation review typically includes:

- Identifying and discussing weaknesses, strengths, problems and obstacles;
- Identifying any changes that need to be made in the method of operation or in the duties of the position;
- Recommending and suggesting steps to be taken to improve the volunteer's performance or to modify the method of operation;
- Developing and mutually agreeing upon performance goals to be accomplished;
- Discussing the individual's future volunteer commitment in the organization. The operational volunteer may have an idea of other types of volunteer positions she/he may like to apply for in the future. At the end of their appointment, volunteers may express the desire to serve in another capacity.
- Deciding whether the operational volunteer should be retained in her/his present position, referred to a different position or released.

The Council provides expertise, as necessary, to give support and assistance to its volunteers.

Volunteer Records

Limited storage space prohibits maintenance of lengthy personnel records for operational volunteers. Adult registration forms and records of training course attendance are kept for a three-year period. Individuals are urged to use the Volunteer Position Record or some other means of recording years of membership, positions held, training taken and other data pertinent to Girl Scout membership and service.

Confidentiality

Information learned while serving as a volunteer is the exclusive (intellectual) property of GSESC and should be carefully guarded. Confidential information includes, but is not limited to, non-public technical, business and financial information and plans, as well as private information about councils, volunteers, customers, suppliers, and employees. Confidential information may not be disclosed to unauthorized persons, including competitors, reporters, or to other volunteers whose duties do not require use of such information. Volunteers may also be responsible for the internal security of such information.

Only designated individuals are authorized to speak on behalf of GSESC. All media inquires should be directed to the Communication and Marketing Department or the Chief Executive Officer.

Conflict Resolution

Volunteers should feel free to bring to the attention of those with whom they interact, problems or concerns they might have. The most effective way of solving problems is by calm, open discussion between the individuals involved. If, for any reason, a seemingly irresolvable problem arises between individuals, the circumstances surrounding the problem may be discussed with the immediate supervisor or the next level(s) of supervision in case of conflict or other concern. In all cases, the volunteer may notify the Chief Executive Officer for direction and/or input.

Separation Procedures

Voluntary

To assist the GSESC in maintaining professionalism in an operational volunteer organization, a person having reason(s) to resign from volunteer service is provided with the following discretionary channels.

- Reason(s) for resignation may be discussed with the immediate supervisor prior to a final decision.
- Upon reaching a decision, it is requested, although not required, that the volunteer provide notification to their immediate supervisor as far in advance as possible.
- Any resignation submitted is acknowledged by the immediate supervisor.

Involuntary

In any organization, situations may arise that make it necessary to consider releasing a volunteer from an assignment. GSESC reserves the right to immediately release an adult from a volunteer position as it deems appropriate, with or without notice or stated reason.

SAFETY EXPECTATIONS

Safety

Maintaining a safe Girl Scouting environment is a goal for all and requires the continuous cooperation of all. Volunteers are expected to report any suspected unsafe conditions and all accidents or injuries regardless of how insignificant that occur during girl scouting activities immediately to the Field Director, and the Chief of Staff. It is the responsibility of each volunteer to accept and follow established safety procedures as well as exercise good judgment and common sense.

If you are ever in doubt regarding the safe way to perform a task, please consult the Field Director for the area or the Chief of Staff. GSESC does not intend for any volunteer to perform any task that is dangerous to his/her, safety or security. We strongly encourage volunteer participation and input on health and safety matters.

Smoke Free Program Delivery

Smoking is prohibited in all service centers, satellite offices and program delivery sites and facilities including, but not limited to, offices, restrooms, meeting rooms, dining areas and living quarters. Smoking is also prohibited on or off trails, or at any time when girls are present.

Substance Abuse

GSESC's goal is to establish and maintain a Girl Scouting environment that is free from the related risks and effects of alcohol and drug abuse.

GSESC has adopted a zero tolerance policy and reserves the right and discretion to take actions it determines appropriate based solely on its reasonable suspicion of current use or being under the influence of drugs and/or alcohol while serving as a volunteer for GSESC. The use, distribution, manufacture, dispensation, sale or possession of illegal drugs and/or alcohol, or the misuse of prescribed drugs, cannot be tolerated at any time on GSESC's premises, in the conduct of GSESC's business, or off premises, or during non-volunteer hours if it affects an individual's performance.

GSESC may approve certain events which allow adult social consumption of alcoholic beverages. When attending such events, volunteers are expected to act responsibly by exercising moderation and discretion, by maintaining professionalism and by securing alternative transportation to avoid potentially impaired driving, as appropriate.

Violence

GSESC cannot condone violent, abusive, or threatening behavior in the Girl Scouting environment. This includes any acts or threats of violence by its volunteers or against its volunteers on GSESC premises or while they are engaged in business with or on behalf of GSESC, on or off GSESC premises.

In furtherance of this Policy, volunteers are expected to warn or advise their supervisor, Chief of Staff or the Chief Executive Officer of any suspicious activity, situations or incidents that concern them involving other volunteers, employees, and/or former employees. This includes, for example, threats or acts of violence, aggressive behavior, offensive acts and threatening or offensive comments or remarks. GSESC does not condone any form of retaliation against any volunteer for making a report under this Policy.

Searches

In the interest of a safe and drug free Girl Scouting environment or to safeguard property, GSESC may search any time, at its discretion and without notice, for illegal drugs, alcohol, weapons, personal property of GSESC or others, etc. in GSESC's facilities or on or about a volunteer while a volunteer is serving.

Desks, lockers, computers and other storage devices or equipment may be provided for the convenience of volunteers, but remain the sole property of GSESC. Accordingly, any agent or representative of GSESC can inspect them, as well as any articles found within them, at any time, either with or without prior notice. At its discretion, GSESC may also question volunteers. Volunteers are expected to cooperate in the conducting of such searches.

Upon determination of reasonable suspicion, GSESC may also inspect without notice any packages, parcels, purses, handbags, briefcases, tool boxes, desks, lockers or any other possessions or articles carried to and from GSESC's property.

Crisis Communication

Girl Scouts of Eastern South Carolina has established written emergency procedures that should be followed during a crisis situation; in addition, any serious accident or fatality is to be reported immediately to the Chief of Staff at (843) 552-9910 X 228 or (843) 830-7277, the Chief Executive Officer at (843) 552-9910 or (843) 614-2417, the Manager of Evaluation, Research and Reports at (843) 224-6450 or the Director of Membership Services at (843) 696-1492.

IMPORTANT PROCEDURES AND CHILD PROTECTION

There are four major types of child abuse recognized by South Carolina Law: Neglect, Physical, Emotional and Sexual. Neglect has four subcategories: Physical, Medical, Educational, and Emotional. South Carolina Law states that it is abuse or neglect when a child is injured by an intentional act, or omission of an act (failure to protect).

Neglect: (There are four sub types of neglect) Neglect is failure on the part of the parent to provide for the child's basic needs, including, but not limited to:

- Physical: lack of appropriate supervision, exposure to unsanitary or hazardous living conditions or failure to provide necessary food or shelter
- Medical: failure to provide necessary dental, medical or mental health treatment
- Educational: failure to educate a child or attend to special education needs
- Emotional: inattention to a child's emotional needs, exposure to parental substance abuse or domestic violence

PLEASE NOTE: What appears to be physical, medical or educational Neglect may actually be a family in need of resources.

Physical abuse is characterized by any type of damage to the skin, including, but not limited to: punching, beating, kicking, biting, shaking, throwing, stabbing, choking, hitting (with a hand, stick, strap, or other object), burning, or otherwise harming a child.

Emotional abuse is any pattern of behavior that impairs a child's emotional development or sense of self-worth. This includes, but is not limited to: constant criticism, threats, rejection, bullying, ignoring, isolating, corrupting, as well as withholding love, support, or guidance.

Sexual Abuse is any sexual or sexually provocative behavior by an adult toward a child, whether or not the child gives consent. This includes but is not limited to: fondling, penetration, incest, rape, sodomy, indecent exposure, commercial exploitation through prostitution, exposure to and/or production of pornographic materials, communicating in a sexual manner by phone or internet

If you suspect child abuse: You should make a report if you have reason to believe a child's physical or mental health or welfare has been or may be adversely affected. Reason to believe does not require conclusive proof, or proof beyond a reasonable doubt.

If a child discloses abuse to you: It is important for you to remain calm and in control of your feelings in order to assure the child that you believe them, and that something will be done to keep him or her safe. Listen; do not question the child, unless you know how to do a Minimal Facts Interview. Do not remove clothing to examine the child's body unless you are a medical professional. Do not confront the alleged perpetrator, or share with him/her what the child disclosed to you.

Immediately: Document what the child said to you and make the report to the proper authority. You will be asked to provide the information the child shared with you, the child's name, address, parent's name(s), names of siblings and any other people living in the home (if known).

- Contact DSS if the alleged perpetrator is an adult who is a parent or other primary care giver.
- Contact local law enforcement if the alleged perpetrator is anyone else.

And AFTER making the report to the proper authority, if this involves a girl member of GSESC:

- Contact GSESC, following the procedure on the emergency card. Fill out the First Report of Accident/Injury report, and fax to the Charleston office ASAP.

DSS will, within 24 hours of the receipt of the report, commence an investigation. If you are concerned about the child's immediate welfare, in addition to contacting DSS, contact local law enforcement. Law Enforcement Officers are authorized to place children in EPC when the officer has probable cause to believe that by reason of abuse or neglect the child is in substantial and imminent danger.

South Carolina Law requires certain professionals to report child abuse and neglect when it is suspected, and there are legal penalties when a Mandated Reporter does not report. GSESC encourages all staff, volunteers and board members who are adult members registered with GSESC to act "as if" they are Mandated Reporters in order to protect children from child abuse and neglect.

Note that the SC Senate and House are in the process of adding camp counselor, scout leader and any other person whose duties require direct contact or supervision of children to the list of mandatory reporters. The new bill should be signed into law sometime during the upcoming membership year 2013-14.

By South Carolina Code 63-7-310 the following professionals are required to report suspected cases of child abuse and neglect.

- physician, nurse, dentist, optometrist
- medical examiner, coroner, and their employees
- any other medical, emergency medical services, mental health or allied health professional
- member of the clergy, Christian Science Practitioners, religious healers
- school teacher, counselor, principal, assistant principal, school attendance officer
- social or public assistance worker
- substance abuse treatment staff
- child care worker in a child care center or foster care facility
- foster parent
- police or law enforcement officer, juvenile justice worker
- undertaker, funeral home director and employees
- persons responsible for processing of films
- computer technician
- judge
- volunteer non-attorney guardian ad litem

No Retaliation

Retaliation against any Girl Scout member, volunteer or employee for filing a complaint, participating in or cooperating with an investigation is strictly prohibited. GSESC does not tolerate adverse treatment of employees or Girl Scout members (including volunteers) because they report child abuse or provide information related to such complaints. After a report, GSESC may make follow up inquiries to determine that any prohibited activity has in fact ended and retaliation has not occurred.

A Final Word About Adult/Girl Scout Sexual Relationships

As GSESC encourages friendships between staff/administration/volunteers and Girl Scouts, GSESC strives to differentiate appropriate friendships from amorous and/or erotic relationships between Girl Scouts who are children/minors and adult staff/administration/volunteers. Such relationships, whether consensual or not, are always unacceptable. Implicit in the idea of professionalism is the recognition by those in positions of authority that in their relationships with Girl Scouts who are children/minors, there is always an element of power. Because the power in relationships between staff members (including volunteers) and such Girl Scouts is always fundamentally asymmetric in nature, it is incumbent on those with authority not to abuse, nor seem to abuse, the authority with which they are entrusted.

Anti-Retaliation

GSESC strives to provide employees and volunteers with confidential, non-threatening alternatives for reporting their concerns or information regarding any legally protected rights without fear of retaliation. GSESC does not tolerate retaliation against anyone for stepping forward in good faith to address discrimination, harassment or abuse as may be defined in this Handbook or by law in accordance with internal reporting responsibilities.

Volunteers who perceive any implication or threat of retaliation because they have voiced or supported a complaint involving anyone's legally protected rights should immediately report as detailed in this Handbook in the section entitled, "Reporting Responsibilities and Complaint Resolution for Protected Status Discrimination, Harassment, Child Abuse and/or Retaliation".

Reporting Responsibilities and Complaint Resolution for Protected Status Discrimination/Harassment/Abuse and/or Retaliation

Any volunteer who believes that any administrator's, supervisor's, co-worker's, employee's, Girl Scout's, volunteer's or third party's actions or words constitute legally protected status discrimination, harassment, child abuse and/or retaliation toward himself/herself or toward another has a responsibility to report the situation immediately to the Chief Executive Officer, or in the case of the Chief Executive Officer's absence, conflict or other concern, to Human Resources. In the case of conflict or other concern regarding reporting to the Chief Executive Officer, a report of such discrimination, harassment or abuse may also be made to the Board Chair. This reporting responsibility specifically includes supervisors or those in positions of authority to whom such a report may be made.

A complaint or report of legally protected status discrimination, harassment, abuse and retaliation may be made by anyone affected by or observing such behavior. While the initial complaint may be made verbally, GSESC may request a signed written complaint/report to follow. Although failure to immediately receive the complaint in writing does not prevent investigation, delay or lack of substantiated detail may hamper the investigation and appropriate resolution. A complaint of alleged protected status discrimination, harassment/retaliation (including sexual/gender harassment) or Girl Scout and/or Girl Scout related child abuse should include all appropriate times, places, and dates.

Upon receipt of the report, GSESC may take such immediate actions as it deems appropriate. This may include notifying the individual charged and/or the parents, if a Girl Scout who is a child/minor is involved, that a complaint has been lodged. Impracticality of immediate parent notification does not prevent GSESC from taking such immediate action as it deems appropriate, including but not limited to separating, suspending and/or questioning and/or preliminary disciplinary action of the individual[s] involved.

GSESC conducts a prompt investigation of any allegations of protected status discrimination, Girl Scout related child abuse (as determined appropriate) sexual discrimination/harassment or discrimination/harassment of a similarly offensive nature based on legally protected status, including (for employees only) gender, age, race, color, religion, national origin, disability, military service/obligation or protected activity (i.e., opposition to prohibited discrimination or participation in the statutory complaint process) and/or retaliation for bringing or participating in such a claim. The Chief Executive Officer, or, in case of his/her absence or conflict, Human Resources or the Board/Board Chair may designate a member of the staff/administration or outside investigator to investigate and document the events specific to the charges ("the designee"), as determined appropriate. During the investigation, anyone who is alleged to have committed acts of protected status discrimination/harassment/retaliation or abuse may be contacted and permitted to respond to specific allegations.

As to any GSESC Girl Scout member (girl or volunteer) or third party who is the subject of any investigation, GSESC and/or its designee has full discretion to seek such additional information, recommendations, input and/or assistance as it determines to be appropriate. Further, GSESC has full authority to take such disciplinary and/or corrective action as it deems appropriate at any stage of the investigation. Upon review of the investigation and/or documentation, the Chief Executive Officer, Human Resources or Board/Board Chair, as determined appropriate, determines the seriousness of the circumstances, and may take such action as GSESC deems appropriate, including, remedial and/or preventive measures. At the conclusion of the investigation, should GSESC determine the matter calls for discipline and/or remedial, preventive or additional action as to a GSESC employee, Girl Scout member (girl or volunteer) or third party, such action and/or communication as the GSESC deems appropriate may follow.

Any Girl Scout member (girl or volunteer) who is found to be involved in protected status discrimination, harassment, child abuse or activity which could be perceived as abusive toward a child or children or discriminatory, harassing or retaliatory toward an employee is subject to appropriate disciplinary or corrective action to be determined at the sole discretion of GSESC.

Information provided is kept as confidential as possible in keeping with an investigation that is as thorough as GSESC determines necessary and appropriate to the charge. Additionally, once a complaint of Girl Scouting related child abuse, protected status discrimination or harassment has been filed, the Chief Executive Officer or GSESC designee may periodically keep the accuser, the accused, the reporting party and, as determined appropriate, Board/Board Chair informed as the investigation and decision processes unfold. When a final determination is made, the Chief Executive Officer or GSESC designee may inform the accuser, accused, reporting party and/or Board/Board Chair, as determined appropriate, of the ultimate resolution and/or action to be taken. In all cases, the Chief Executive Officer or GSESC designee may also keep other concerned persons informed.

All Girl Scout members (girls and volunteers), as applicable, are expected to cooperate in any investigation. Information provided to the person or persons investigating is to be kept as confidential as possible in keeping with a thorough investigation and need to know.

Please know that requirements related to the filing of claims with any state or federal enforcement agencies, including time deadlines, are not changed by this internal reporting and resolution process. It is, however, GSESC's hope that all will access and find the internal procedure satisfactory. GSESC asks that Girl Scout members (girls and volunteers) and/or anyone else concerned bring any difficulties in using the procedure directly to the attention of the Chief Executive Officer, or in the case of conflict or absence, to the Board/Board Chair.

Any good faith report of concerns of protected status discrimination and/or harassment and/or retaliation and/or abuse, experienced or observed, should be made without fear of retaliation by GSESC. Retaliation against any Girl Scout member (girls or volunteers) for filing a complaint or participating in an investigation in good faith is strictly prohibited and cannot be tolerated. Any incident of retaliation as above should also be reported using this policy.
